FRIDAY, JUNE 8.

The Boer capital has yielded to the British and the war is practically ended.

The situation in St. Louis over the union street car strikers grows more serious every day.

SOUTH TRIMBLE was turned down in the meeting of Fifth District Democrats, when they rescinded its former call, barring all men from taking part who voted for any other than Goebel.

The nomination of Judge Ed C. O'Rear for the Court of Appeals insures Republican success in that district this fall. Hazelrigg will be followed by a genteel gentleman, a lawyer of ability and a man that will bring credit upon the high position which he holds, rather than disgrace.

Robbery does not Justify Robbery.

Our contemporary asserts that he has caught us lying to the public, and proved it. We make him to show in one instance where The Republican has falsified. Will he accept? We yet maintain that Goebel had no right to contest, notwithstanding the assumed editor's spurious logic to the contrary. Mr. Goebel had no right to contest without some reason, some cause for a contest. It was his privilege to contest, but not his right.

Webster defines right, thus: 1. that which is right or correct. Specifically: (a) The straight course, adherence to duty, obedience to lawful authority, divine or human, freedom from guilt—the opposite of moral wrong. (b) A true statement; freedom from error or falsehood; adherence to truth or fact. (c) A just judgment or action; that which is true or proper; uprightness, integrity. 2. That to which one has a just claim.

We maintain that Goebel's claim was not a true one; neither was it proper, nor did it bear the semblance of justice, uprightness and integrity. The allegations charged were not true statements, but false and frivolous. No pretense was made to follow truth or fact; the sole object was to gain a point, regardless of right or justice in the case. William Goebel had no moral right to contest the election of Gov. Taylor, than any other private citizen, because he had no reasons, no grounds on which to base a contest, hood.

The Republican does not endorse a contest anywhere, unless the contest has his claim on auditable evidence. The contests in Congress, to which our contemporary chooses to refer, have no bearing on the Kentucky contest. This journalistic blatherer elects to justify the fraud, which he admits has been practiced by his own party, by referring to cases in Congress, which were, according to his statement, tainted with fraud, but which he really has no knowledge of. He is indeed a prostitute who attempts to justify the iniquities of his own soul by referring to those of another, likewise he is a base hireling who presumes to justify the robbery of Governor Taylor of his office by citing an outraged people to acts which have been committed in Congress. To what will the pusillanimous editor of the Herald refer next to justify the evil of his own, and his party's doings?

The Herald Should be Discredited.

The editors of the Louisville Herald of mine say that before they would lend it the aid of a drink from the holy cup and then sanction the acts of a party that rules in fellow feeling of this freedom, they would first ascertain whether the facts are true. And yet these same editors, in the same issue, say that the Republican is a base hireling who presumes to justify the robbery of Governor Taylor of his office by citing an outraged people to acts which have been committed in Congress. To what will the pusillanimous editor of the Herald refer next to justify the evil of his own, and his party's doings?

The above is as near the truth as the Hartford Herald is capable of telling. Its editor prefers telling a brazen lie to the truth, and in most every issue he compromises his purpose, especially in his letters to THE REPUBLICAN and its editors. We stated in our last issue, in language that cannot be misunderstood, our position on the steal in the Kentucky contest. We have not a word to retract. Every intelligent man in Kentucky knows that Taylor was robbed out of right of the office of Governor, and if the editor of the Herald does not know it is only because of that dense cloud of ignorance which enshrouds his reason. As to the matter of a religious man's endorsing the wholesale slaughter of the ballot box, we do not believe that any Christian, whose mental eyes are not dimmed with party prejudice, will sanction this rape of the ballot box. How brazen is the man, who will reproach his contemporary with lawlessness, when he and his party are overwhelmed in its practice, yet, the assumed editor, has the brazen effrontery to charge THE REPUBLICAN with lawlessness, when most every act of the Democratic contest was marked by some act of fraud and force. For instance the drawing of the contest committee; the manner in which Goebel was "declared Governor," and the way in which the clerk entered the proceedings of the Legislature and Senators at the Capitol Hotel, or some other dungeon, as being in regular session in the State House. These are living facts, which the assumed editor endorses.

THE REPUBLICAN does not believe that Taylor knew of the coming of these men from the adjoining counties to Frankfort, styled mountaineers, presided over by Captain Sharp, of Lexington, a staunch Democrat and an ex-Congressman. These men came to protest against the manner in which the Goebels were conducted in the contest. They did not have their pistols, as Goebel, Jack Chinn, Clerk of the Senate, and presumably every other Democrat at the Capitol did, but they were carried so they could be seen. We believe that the assumed editor's quotation, attributed to Taylor, to be a purged falsehood, secured only through that $100,000 corruption fund.

Our contemporary has the audacity to willfully and purposely lie and then attribute it to THE REPUBLICAN. We are not surprised, however, a man who claims to be a follower of the crucified Lord, and accepts stolen goods with such glee, as does the assumed editor, can be relied upon to do most anything disrespectful. "Thou shalt not steal," saith the Lord. Having stolen, you should be consistent with your calling and keep quiet.

Gov. Taylor is Indicted.

On the 31st day of May, Judge Cantrell issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Gov. Taylor, on an indictment "supposed" to have been found against him on April 19, 1900. Up to this time the indictment had been kept a profound secret, when the law expressly provides that "THE INDICTMENT MUST BE PRESENTED BY THE FOREMAN, IN THE PRESENCE OF THE GRAND JURY, TO THE COURT, AND REMAIN IN HIS OFFICE AS PUBLIC RECORD." Just why Judge Cantrell acted in this manner, no one knows, but himself. While Gov. Taylor was in Washington he sent a telegram to the Commonwealth's Attorney, Mr. Franklin, asking if an indictment had been found, and he was refused this information; again, Judge Yost, in person, demanded of Mr. Ford, circuit clerk of Franklin county, to see the record book and should have been returned in open court, by the foreman, in the presence of the grand jury. This we must confess, has been done, "according to the forms of law, in Democratic hands," while the Statute and Criminal Code say this shall be done, not in secret, but in open court.

If the indictment was found on the 19th day of April, why was Gov. Taylor not arrested ere this? Since that day he has been in Frankfort, in Louisville and other points in the State and he was not molested. If Gov. Taylor was guilty of the charge preferred against him on the 19th of April, it was certainly known before the 31st of May—six weeks after the finding of the indictment. Why the clerk had entered upon the record book, the indictment, to be kept in secret six weeks, to be kept in secret six weeks with an order, that Taylor should not be arrested, until he notified the clerk to issue a bench warrant, is a mystery to all Kentuckians. This indictment should have been presented by the foreman of the grand jury, to the court, in the presence of the grand jury, in open court, and entered of record. Who can blame a man for evading arrest, to be made by men, who openly and flagrantly violate the law, as in the matter of Taylor's indictment. Gov. Taylor is in Indiana and he should stay there until he can be treated with respect in Kentucky. In our judgment he would be very foolish and unthoughtful to come home to be lodged in jail without evidence, and not being permitted bond, as in the cases of Powers, Fulton, Youtsey, "Dallow" Dick Combs, Whittaker and Jim Howard. These gentlemen are all confined in prison, without any proof or evidence whatever, save what was purchased with that corruption fund by Jas. Andrew Scott, Tom Campbell, Justus Goebel, &c. The indictment preferred against Gov. Taylor on April 19, is as follows:

Franklin Circuit Court—The Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. William S. Taylor—Indictment for being accessory before the fact to the willful murder of William Goebel.

The grand jury of the county of Franklin, in the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby return this indictment against William S. Taylor, in the said county of Franklin, on the 20th day of January, A. D. 1900, and before the finding of this indictment, unlawfully, wilfully and feloniously of his own free will and with intent to bring about the death and procure the murder of William Goebel, did complete with Charles Powers, F. W. Golden, Green, Nathan, John L. Powers, John Davis, Joe Phelan, William H. Fulton, Henry Youtsey, Joe Howard, Harry Howard, Harlan Whittaker, Richard Combs and others to this grand jury unknown, and did counsel, advise, encourage, aid and procure Henry Youtsey, James Howard, Harry Howard, Harlan Whittaker, Richard Combs and other persons to this grand jury unknown, unlawfully, wilfully, feloniously and of their malice aforethought, to kill and murder William Goebel, which one of the last named persons or another person acting with them, but who was to this grand jury unknown, as aforesaid, then and there, unlawfully, feloniously and of their malice aforethought, did shoot and wound with powder and shot, and shot and wound with steel ball and other hard substance, from which shooting and wounding the said Goebel died on the third day of February, 1900, and which of said last aforesaid persons, as aforesaid, did actually fire the shot that killed the said Goebel, to this grand jury unknown, and the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Grand Jury, Fifth Circuit Court, given under my hand and Clerk of said court, this 21st day of May, 1900. THOMAS H. FORD, Clerk.

Gov. Taylor was elected Governor of Kentucky last November by the consent of 193,714 to 131,331, counted and turned in by Goebels. On the 12th of December Taylor became Governor of Kentucky by taking the oath of office, administered by Chief Justice Hazelrigg. When the General Assembly met, Goebel called upon his cohorts of corruption, the members of the legislature and senate, to remove Taylor from the governor's chair, and on receiving this command the legions of fraud and force and corruption sprang forth, like so many demons, spurred on by promises of office and bribe and political favor, but in the midst of the charge on civil liberty, the leader of this host was struck to earth, perhaps by an assassin, but more likely by one of his own members, and Gov. Taylor was immediately arraigned before the public for this crime. There are, perhaps, a few partisan Democrats who really believe that Gov. Taylor was known to the murder of Goebel, but they are few. Nine-tenths of the Democrats in the State believe Taylor innocent, and this fact will be vindicated next November, by the election of Taylor by an overwhelming majority.

Justice a Mockery.

Since the beginning of the campaign of 1899, THE REPUBLICAN has unceasingly contended that it was not part of the will, wish or desire of the Goebel leaders, to conduct an honest, fair and manly election in the State, but that it was their aim and purpose to get control of state affairs, regardless of the people's will as expressed at the polls November 7, 1899. The basis of this charge has not been built upon idle fancies, nor late theories, instead upon living facts. Our knowledge of human nature warrants the declaration that no man or set of men can be trusted with unlimited power or absolute authority. This by the action of the Democratic courts, guaranteed them. Kentucky received her first lesson in practical Goebelianism in the Music Hall convention. That forcible presentation filled all Kentucky with amazement and alarm, and drove many honest, intelligent men from the party. It was indeed a new departure, but only an harmonious action of the Goebel election machinery, patterned and operated by Wm. Goebel.

Along in connection with this great outrage, was echoed and re-echoed, the astounding declaration of South Trimble that the people of Franklin county were not to have a fair election. This hellish declaration met with the hearty approval of Judge Pryor, one of the three men who permitted the disfranchisement of the people of the commonwealth. As the campaign advanced, evidence of the intended steal became more and more abundant. This evidence was of such a nature as no honest, intelligent mind could misconstrue. Henry Watterson declared that "under the operation of the Goebel election law, the result is not left to chance." What did that mean? It could mean but one thing. That is, that Bill Goebel was to be Governor of Kentucky regardless of the majority against him. It meant that not the people should elect, but that the Goebel machine should make a Governor. This assertion had the sanction and approval of Wm. Goebel in this significant language: "You can't out count me, you can't count me out. The other fellows may do the voting but we Democrats will do the counting."

With this evidence coming from the speaker of the Democratic House of Representatives, sanctioned by a Democratic ex-judge of the Court of Appeals and a member of the Democratic board of election commissioners, by the hitherto-god of Kentucky Democracy, Henry Watterson, and Wm. Goebel himself, who could doubt the purpose of the Goebel gang? Surely none but a dullard, a fool or an ignorant. Following the campaign, came the election, the count and the steal. Then came the Democratic Court of Appeals, declaring that inspectors and officers of the Brown Democratic party and other parties should not be admitted to the counting room.

Then followed a Democratic legislature, sitting as a high court, approving the acts of the most bias and partisan court that ever bore the name, without ever hearing or considering one word of the testimony submitted to that court. Lastly came the Court of Appeals declaring that it had no authority to investigate the acts of the legislature, no matter how flagrant crime might have been committed; and the steal was completed "under the terms of the Goebel law." Notwithstanding that the Democratic press of Kentucky has continually proclaimed the innocence and fairness of their courts, yet in the face of these infallible facts, what man who makes any pretensions to honesty, would dare defend their course? In a checkered history of an hundred and eight years, no parallel can be found in the State of Kentucky distantly approaching the debased and partisan rulings of these courts. The last and latest of the works of these "fair courts" came to light last Thursday when from the "honest, fair and impartial" rulings of Judge Cantrell's court, issues the order to the Clerk of the Franklin Circuit Court commanding said clerk to issue a bench warrant on an indictment found by the April grand jury against Governor Taylor. Six weeks after the indictment was returned it was brought to light. This action of Judge Cantrell might be explained if there were no law on this subject. But the law is so plain and clear that a school boy might clearly understand. The indictment must be presented by the foreman, in the presence of the grand jury, to the court and filed with the clerk, and remain in his office as a public record," says the law. But it did not suit the purpose of the prosecuting conspirators to comply with the law. "Honest" Judge Cantrell said never mind the law, just lay that thing up and if Taylor comes out for Governor we will put him in jail. Every decision of Cantrell's has been as partisan as could be. He has used the high office, which he has disgraced, to protect and foster the course of the conspirators.

Fellow citizens, do you see honesty and fairness in these acts, these deeds? Do you see that the courts are sitting upon a plane where political influence never reaches, or delving in politics, usurping authority and exercising the high offices entrusted to them to political advantage? Do your rights count for anything? Shall the guarantee of the constitution count for naught? Shall you be free or shall you allow thieves and usurpers to reign in the fair land of Kentucky? These are solemn questions which you confront you. You must submit or you must resist. Resist with the ballot and by force of might if need be. Our rights must be respected, peaceably if possible, forcibly if necessary.

This is some distance from the section of the country that all other diseases put together, and by the action of the Democratic courts, guaranteed them. Kentucky received her first lesson in practical Goebelianism in the Music Hall convention. That forcible presentation filled all Kentucky with amazement and alarm, and drove many honest, intelligent men from the party. It was indeed a new departure, but only an harmonious action of the Goebel election machinery, patterned and operated by Wm. Goebel.

The injustice to Taylor.

The action of the Franklin Circuit Court in sequestering the indictment of Taylor and springing it at a time when it would have political effect is causing widespread adverse comment all over the state. The whole action was in direct violation of the code and the law, but this seems never to have penetrated the officials of the Franklin court, and even now that it is a matter of general discussion gives them no uneasiness. The whole matter is summed up very clearly by Col. Breckinridge, who is a lawyer as well as editor of the Lexington Herald. This is what he says: "The injustice of this conduct can be seen in a moment when it is understood that as soon as the Franklin Circuit Court adjourned Governor Taylor was at the mercy of the prosecution; it is a bench warrant could issue, he could be arrested and confined in jail and treated precisely as Howard is treated; the prosecution refuse to consent to a hearing, and he is compelled to remain in jail without bail until the next term of the Franklin Circuit Court. It will also be remembered that no one has dared to swear out a warrant against Governor Taylor. The elastic conscience of the detectives employed by Campbell seem to have been sufficient for this purpose. This is not a question between the Franklin Circuit Court and W. S. Taylor. It is not a matter personal to W. S. Taylor. It involves the rights of every citizen in Kentucky. In it is involved the power of every court in Kentucky. The supremacy of the law is at stake. Are the judges or people apathetic in this State? Is there power in our judges to repeal, modify or suspend the statutes of the State and to deprive citizens of the rights guaranteed to them by the law of the Commonwealth? This is much more important than the interests of the particular individual who has been indicted."—Dispatch.

Pretoria Finally Taken by Lord Roberts's Army.

London, June 4.—It was announced at the War Office this afternoon that at 2 o'clock to-day, South Africa time, Lord Roberts and his army took formal possession of Pretoria, the Transvaal Capital.

The announcement was greeted with the wildest demonstration and the wires were made hot sending the news throughout Europe.

The War Office has received the following dispatches from Lord Roberts:

Pretoria, June 5, 12:55 p. m.—Just before dark yesterday the enemy were beaten back from nearly all of the positions they had been holding, and in Hamilton's mounted infantry followed them within 2,000 yards of Pretoria, though they retreated hastily.

Deists then sent an officer with a flag of truce into the town, demanding its surrender in my name. Shortly before midnight I was awakened by two officials of the South African Republic—Sandberg, Military Secretary to Commanding General Botha, and a general officer in the Boer army who brought me a letter from Botha, proposing an armistice for the purpose of settling the terms of surrender.

I replied that I would gladly meet morning, but that I was not prepared to discuss any terms, as the surrender of the town must be unconditional. I asked for a reply by daylight, as I ordered the troops to march on the town as soon as it was light.

In his reply Botha told me that he had decided not to defend Pretoria, and that he trusted women, children and property would be protected. At 1 o'clock a. m. to day, while on the line of march, I was met by three of the principal officials with a flag of truce, stating their wish to surrender the town.

It was arranged that Pretoria should be taken possession of by Her Majesty's troops at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Botha and Mrs. Kruger are both in Pretoria. Some few of the British prisoners have been taken away, but the majority are still at Waterval. Over a hundred of the officers are in Pretoria. The few I have seen are looking well.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, almost eight months after the declaration of war, Lord Roberts entered Pretoria. While the Commander-in-Chief of the greatest army Great Britain ever put in the field was fulfilling the promise he made to the guards at Bloemfontein, to lead them into the capital of Transvaal, England was celebrating the event with wild enthusiasm. Throughout the length and breadth of the country the news spread.

Based on the recollection of recent European wars, when the occupation of the enemy's capital signified the end of hostilities, Lord Roberts terse telegram was taken to mean the practical fall of the war which has tried Great Britain's military resources as they were never tried before.

In London the Mansion House and war offices almost instantaneously became the centers for jubilant throngs. Flags again appeared as if by magic, and traffic had to be diverted through other streets. Hatless and coatless men and boys ran through the city alleys to see for themselves the bulletins announcing the news and staying to join in the cheers and add their voices to the joyful throng's singing of "God save the Queen." Hats hoisted from a thousand heads were waved in exultant hands and shimmered like a coal bed in the sun.

Other men on top of omnibuses and Aldermen homing the windows of the mansion house encouraged crowds to still further efforts.

Reasons Why "Governor Beckham Should be Renominated as Given Out by Daniel E. O'Sullivan, of the Evening News.

There may be a movement to defeat the nomination of Beckham for Governor, but it is doubtful if it has any real strength. Judge Joseph H. Lewis, whose candidacy is being pushed by lukewarm democratic journals, is nearly eighty years old, and a physically unfitted to stand the strain of an exciting contest. Judge Hazelrigg and ex-Congressman Hendrick, either of whom might secure the nomination, have refused to run. The Courier Journal has declared for Beckham and the machine Democrats will fall into line. With the State Central Committee organized in his interest, the mass conventions controlled by his personal friends, the majority of the delegates will be instructed for him no matter what the people generally may think.

The News is heartily in favor of Beckham's renomination. No other name should be presented to the State convention. He has earned the unanimous approval of the Goebelian Democracy. He represents Goebelianism in blossom and fruit. He stands for all the infamous political methods by which his nomination for Lieutenant Governor was secured, and through which the seizure of the governorship was accomplished. He favored the passage of the Goebel law. He approved the deeds of fraud and violence committed in its name. He accepted an office stolen from its rightful owner, citing this thieving measure as his warrant for doing so. He is under public and private pledge to carry out the doctrines of Goebelianism, which has for its basic principle the rule of the minority and the disfranchisement of the citizen. Behind the mask of personal cleanliness he represents in his weak and shallow character, an organized criminal and degenerate democracy, which will let nothing stand in the way of its plot to capture the government of this state against the wishes of the majority of the voters.

Being a typical product of machine politics, mere wax in the hands of unscrupulous leaders, who can mold him at will, and standing as he does, the exponent and defender of Goebelianism in its worst form. The News favors his renomination. The mention of his name will solidify the forces of good government and array the Independent Democrats against him and result in his destruction. When Beckham falls, as he must, he will carry with him into the ruins the disreputable structure by the aid of which he has reached the governorship. His defeat will give the death blow to Goebelianism and will scatter the carbon politicians who have profited by it.

agony of the Boer army, as a democratic ranks to Beckham. Let the machine put its hall mark upon his nomination. He belongs to the conspirators. They cannot desert him. They will put their souls and dishonor under his hands. And the disposal of him can be safely left to the honest voters of Kentucky. —Louisville News.

Taylor, who conducted the great revival here in 1886. He is a graduate of Bethel College, Russellville, and also of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville. He is a very brilliant young man and one of the ablest young ministers in the State. Every citizen in Hartford should hear him.

Mr. James Bullock, of near Smallhouse, was drowned in Green River last Friday night. He had been ill for some time, which illness, in a degree, affected his mind. While the party waiting on him was absent from the room, Mr. Bullock arose from the bed and leaped into the darkness, running at full speed toward Green River. At a short distance from the house is a high bluff, towards this he ran as though for life, not stopping but leading headlong into the water and to death. The body was since found near Runney, returned and buried in the family cemetery. He fancied that some man was trying to kill him.

Our board of councilmen have promised the town brick side walks, street lamps and a stock law to the effect of keeping off the streets dogs, hogs and horses. The town has been enjoying the benefit of excellent street lamps. The council has begun its promises to keep, that dogs, hogs and horses shall go and brick walks laid on the streets and alleys of the town. A four and a half foot walk is to be built from the Walker property to Union Street, near the college. All walks are to be four and a half feet wide. These improvements are much needed and when completed will add greatly to the comfort, convenience and appearance of the town.

Drowned.

Mr. Conis Miller, of the Sunny Dale community, was drowned in Rough River Wednesday evening at about midnight, at the Comb farm, about six miles above town. Young Miller had gone down the creek on a raft of logs and was returning home in company with Eliza Durbin. They had gone up on the North side of the creek and failing to find a boat undertook to swim the river. Miller was leading and near the South shore when his strength gave away and he went down.

The swiftness of the water made the task of swimming great and his clothing also added to his burden. The body has not yet been recovered and possibly may never be. Young Miller was nineteen years old. He was the son of Mr. Jo Miller, of Sunny Dale.

Jerusalem has neither street lamps, policemen, postmen nor newspapers; people who go out at night are ordered to carry lanterns under a heavy penalty. Large Families.

Col. D. W. Henry, of Irvington, was in the city Monday, and in speaking of Breckinridge county people generally and their good traits told us of Mr. Vittoe, of near Hudsonville, a breeder of race horses, who makes the Southern circuit with his own horses and riders, that he has thirty-seven living children, among which are twenty-one boys, all living at home, conducting a fine farm and otherwise enjoying themselves. Mr. Vittoe's nearest neighbor is Mr. Fowler, who has only sixteen boys living at home, but the strangest part of the story is that no bad feeling or jealousy has ever arisen between the families about the size, and Mr. Vittoe has never reflected on his neighbor for not being much of a man—Hawesville Plaindealer.

All Over the County Paper.

Here is the latest story on the man who is too stung to take his home paper: "The man who was too economical to take the county paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste, the boy ran over a four dollar stand of bees, and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance and failing to notice a barbed wire fence ran into that, breaking it down cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and running a four dollar pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield, and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket the wife ran, upset a four gallon
